Hollywood's most popular nanny

Meet Marva, the babysitter
the stars trust with their kids

When Sheryl Crow recently gushed about being a mom to her newly adopted son, Wyatt, she also praised her “wonderful baby nurse” known only as Marva. The name might sound familiar — Julia Roberts wished Marva a happy birthday at the 2005 Academy Awards, back when the supernanny was helping out with her twins, Hazel and Phinnaeus. Marva, who has also assisted Reese Witherspoon and Courteney Cox, may be the hardest-working nanny in Hollywood, but it’s well worth it. According to Katie Vaughan, founder of Westside Nannies in LA, top celeb nannies can earn up to $250,000 a year!

Marva, Sheryl and baby Wyatt took a stroll in Malibu on May 27.

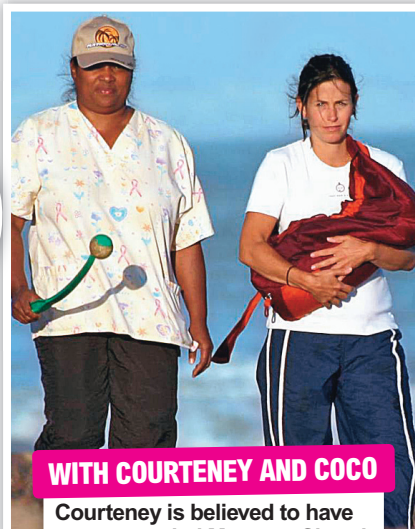

WITH REESE AND HER KIDS

Marva went to the doctor with Reese, Ava and Deacon in 2003.

WITH JULIA'S TWINS

Will Marva return to Julia when she gives birth to baby No. 3?

WITH COURTNEY AND COCO

Courteney is believed to have recommended Marva to Sheryl.
